

On the issue of states rights with regard to the Telephone Privacy laws, I in favor for states having the right to decide what is best for their citizens. The states understand how to better serve their citizens needs as well as the desires of the Indiana businesses, even those that do telemarketing. In lieu of that fact, I do not feel the FCC should limit state sovereignty in the Telephone Privacy laws to stop unwanted telemarketer calls. Life has become a lot easier without the constant bother of unwanted calls. Please do not rob us, the innocent victims of unwanted calls, of our states rights to block these calls.
